Didsbury Incorporated Twenty-one Years

Didsbury has been a town for twenty-five years. The first intimation that Didsbury had been incorporated as a town was received from the provincial government on September 27th, 1906 when a telegram was received by the overseer.

The first municipal election, however, did not take place until December 17th when Mr. Geo. B. Smith who had been one of the village men elected the first mayor by acclamation. The first councillors to be elected were Messrs. H. B. Atkins, J. V. Berscht, W. G. Liesemor, for a two-year term and Messrs. A. F. Maley, D. S. Shantz and A. Weber for a one-year term. The number of ballots cast at the election was 108.

It is interesting to note that three of the men who sat on the first council still live in the district and that two of them are still in business in town.

Crystal Dairy Wins More Prizes

The Crystal Dairy has been successful at a number of agricultural exhibitions in the east with their butter exhibits and have added a few more prizes to their long list of winnings this season.

At the London exhibition they won three second prizes and at the Canadian National exhibition held at Toronto they won second and third prizes. These are the last exhibitions they will show at until the Toronto winter fair.

Alberta Government Faces Heavy Loss

Alberta government finance will probably to the extent of nearly $10,000,000 if the latest discount on the Canadian dollar is still in effect on October 1st, for, on that day an interest payment of approximately $900,000 falls due in New York. At the present value of the dollar in that market there will be an additional cost to the province of about one ninth of the amount unless some method can in the meantime be evolved to meet the situation.

Threshing Well Under Way.

The weather has been very favorable the last few days and threshing is well under way. The grade is considerably better than was expected earlier in the season and according to the elevators the largest percentage is No. 2.

Some blight has been reported in the east country which has lowered the yield somewhat where it struck, but generally the yield is very good.

Some exceptionally good yields have been reported, but the largest so far is a ten-acre field grown by D. T. Williams in the Zella district which yielded 80 bushels to the acre.

Arrange Buying Feeder Cattle By Mail Order

Arrangements will be made for a system of standardization of feeder cattle which will result in the establishment of a mail order cattle business for farmers, who will in consequence be able to purchase cattle without the expense, as at present, of having to go and view the stock first," said Hon. Robert H. Weir, federal minister of agriculture when interviewed by the Calgary Herald early Monday morning.

The whole matter will be under the management of the Council of Western Beef Producers, the minister said.

Freight Charges

Another point that had been decided upon, said Mr. Weir, was the lowering of the freight charges for feeder cattle, which would be reduced 50 per cent. for cattle shipped to feeder farms and for cattle shipped from feeder farms to the seaboard.

Christian Endeavor Elects Officers

Vacation Musings

The writer of this column is on a brief vacation, and he intends enjoying it to the full. During the blistering hot days of the summer with its strong hot winds and choking dust storms he stayed "on the job." Now he has bidden himself to the lakes and the woods to rest and to play. So he proposes to fill his column this week through the medium of a past scissors and a paste pot. This is not an altogether unknown procedure on the part of some editors, but open confession is not always made as frankly as in the present instance.

In starting on his vacation, the writer desired to get away not only from the hot city pavements, but even more so from the constant talk of depression, hard times, unemployment, and the like, the burden of conversation on every hand. He proposed that it would be a great relief to get back to Mother Nature and listen to the rippling of the water, the murmuring of the leaves, the song of the birds, and the drone of the bees and insects.

And for his reading he brought along, not a daily newspaper, nor a fiction magazine, nor text books and bulletins on economics, finance or salesmanship, but some little pocket editions of essays by and wise sayings of other men. And it is with scissors and paste pot in this idle hour that he proposes to pass a few of these gems on to the readers of this column in the hope that, for a little time at least, their thoughts may be diverted from those things which lead to present discouragement. So, here goes:

"Like most garments and most carpets, everything in life has a right side and a wrong side. You can take any joy, and by turning it around find troubles on the other side; or you may take the greatest trouble, and by turning it around find joy on the other side. The gloomiest mountain never casts a shadow on both sides at once, nor does the greatest of life's calamities."

"When you make a mistake, don't look back at it long. Take the reason of the thing into your own mind, and then look forward. Mistakes are lessons of wisdom. . . . The past cannot be changed. The future is yet in your power."

"A great many people criticize and find fault; that's jawbone. Some wish things were better, but do nothing to help; that's wishbone. Others co-operate and do things; that's backbone."

"When you get into a tight place and everything goes against you till it seems as though you could not hold on a minute longer, never give up there; for that is just the place and time that the tide will turn."

"Nothing is easier than fault finding; no talents, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business."

"The most trifling actions that affect a man's credit are to be regarded. The sound of a hammer at five in the morning, or nine at night, heard by a creditor, makes him easy six months longer; but if he sees you at a billiard table, or hears your voice at a tavern, when you should be at work, he sends for his money the next day."

"The tendency to persevere, to persist in spite of hindrances, discouragements, and impossibilities; it is this that in all things distinguishes the strong soul from the weak."

"Of all great qualities, there is an excess which is undesirable. Excess of self-reliance leads to secretiveness and mulish obstinacy; of curiosity to impudence; of imagination to hesitation and inaction; of foresight to indecision; of patience to weak submission; and so on. To give due weight, and no more than its due weight, to each ingredient in the composition of our character, we are fortunate if we are blessed with those twin senses, a sense of proportion and a sense of humor. As a sweetener of life, preserving the rich and successful from odious self-satisfaction and helping all to banish the demons of discontent and ill-will there is nothing to compare with a sense of humor."

"Speaking of unemployment, says 'Life Magazine,' the average man has 12,000,000,000 brain cells. Get busy. Put them to work!"

When skies are kind of gloomy,
And the outlook awful dim,
Just keep on Keeping on.

Market For Wheat In Ireland

Alberta Natural Resources

Senator Edmund Of Irish Free State

Points To Opportunity

Canada should be able to enter into a mutually satisfactory trade agreement with the Irish Free State, in the opinion of Senator S. Thomas Grattan Edmund, member of the Upper House of the Irish Dail, passing through蒙特利尔 after fishing expeditions with the Lady Edmund among the salmon streams of Quebec.

"Canada should be able to sell us much of our wheat," he said. "The Free State buys three-quarters of its wheat requirements abroad, and there should be no reason why Canada could not make a treaty with us on the same lines as that under discussion with New Zealand and that concluded with Australia. I certainly shall look into the subject when I get back to Dublin."

Dysentery Is a Very Dangerous Bowel Complaint

Mrs. E. M. Ward, 627 Ave. H, South, Saskatoon, Sask., writes:—"When my husband was in France he took dysentery, and was in hospital over a year. Ever since he came back he has had the attacks three or four times a year. I cannot emphasize the good Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has done for him. He generally takes a few doses and gets relief in a few hours."

"I cannot speak too highly of your excellent remedy, and you may be sure we are never without a bottle of it in the house."

Trade In Trees Curbed

Restrictions Necessary To Prevent Spread Of Insect Plagues

Restrictions have been placed by the Department of Agriculture on the movement of poplars and willows from the Maritime Provinces and certain areas in British Columbia because of the satin moth. Gaining a foothold in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in 1939 after it had made inroads in British Columbia, the satin moth is a native of Europe and Asia. The restrictive regulations were passed to prevent its further distribution.

Importation into Canada of several varieties of pine wood has been banned by the Department of Agriculture because of insect plagues. On account of the white pine blister rust, every variety of the five-leaved species from all countries has been denied entrance to Canada. Importations of Austrian, Scotch and Swiss mountain pines has been prohibited because of the European pine shoot moth. Recent shipments of pine from these countries have been found to be infested with the moth.

Miller's Worm Powders prove their value. They do not cause any violent disturbances in the stomach, any pain or griping, but do their work quietly and painlessly, so that the destruction of the worms is a quiet process. When they are thorough, and from the first dose there is improvement in the condition of the sufferer and a cessation of manifestation of internal trouble.

Text Book Changes

Minor Alterations Have Been Made

In Saskatchewan

Changes of a minor, slight nature have been made in the authorized text book list for both public and high schools in Saskatchewan. Premier J. T. M. Anderson has announced.

Principal changes noted are the literature selections authorized for grade 11 and grade 12. The chief text book in literature has been retained however.

Dragged Down By Asthma. "The most common woman who is continually afflicted by asthma is unfeited for her life's work. Strength departs and energy is taken away until life becomes a dreary existence. And yet, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry Remedy has brought a great change to an army of sufferers. It reduces the restricted air tubes and guards against future trouble. Try it."

Survey Of Pasture Lands

A complete survey of all pasture lands in Canada is to be conducted by Prof. L. E. Kirk, of the University of Saskatchewan, announcement of whose appointment as Dominion Agrostologist was made in the House of Commons the other day by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture.

Child's Health Should Be Carefully Checked

So That Conditions Which Are Handicapping Can Be Corrected

In many places they have what is called a summer round-up of the children who are to start school for the first time in autumn.

The idea of the round-up is to have the children medically examined. Those who, at that time, are found to be in need of medical care are sent to their doctor and their dentist for treatment in order that when they start school in the autumn they will be physically fit.

Parents should not wait until the child is ready to go to school to have this done, says the health service of the Canadian Medical Association. However, if they have neglected this, it is best to attend to it now.

One of the commonest and most serious mistakes that parents make is to allow an abnormal condition to persist with the idea that the child will grow out of it, or that he is too young to have treatment.

The child who cannot see without glasses is obviously handicapped but he has been fitted with proper glasses. The child who has a running ear is almost sure on his way to deafness, which is a serious handicap unless his ear is properly treated. Children do not grow out of such conditions.

Not only are diseased tonsils and a handicap to the child, but they are dangerous in that they poison the body, and are, it is believed, very often the cause of heart and kidney disease in later life.

No child should be handicapped by conditions which can be corrected by proper treatment. There should be no delay in securing treatment simply because of the mistaken idea that the defects are not serious, or that the child is too young for the treatment or that he will grow out of the defects.

British Columbia Industries

Produce New Banks Third In Manufacturing In Canada

In 1867, the year of Confederation, British Columbia was credited with 10 factories. Thirteen of these were saw mills and 11 flour mills, leaving 16 others, all of which were at Victoria. In 1911, British Columbia was fourth among the provinces in manufacturing and now ranks third, with about 725 establishments. "These statistics are therefore particularly interesting," says R. H. Arnott, industrial secretary of the Vancouver Board of Trade, "pointing as they do to the wonderful industrial future lying before Greater Vancouver area where 60 per cent. of the entire manufacturing enterprises of the province are located."

Canadian Wheat Still Popular

In the face of deplorably low wheat prices there is a ray of hope in the fact that Canadian wheat is commanding a substantial premium in world markets. This is due to the uniformly higher quality of our wheat and the integrity of the Canadian grain-grading system.

On Wednesday (23rd) in Liverpool
Canadian No. 2 Northern wheat quoted at 68 1/2 cents a bushel, No. 1 Northern at 64 5/8 cents and No. 3 Northern at 60 3/4 cents. On the same day the best price offered for Argentine wheat was 53 cents a bushel and for Australian wheat, 63 7/8 cents a bushel. United States wheat was nominally quoted at 58 3/8 cents, but was virtually off the market and Russian wheat was 55 cents a bushel. These quotations prove beyond question that Canadian wheat is preferred in all importing countries above all imported wheats.

It is true that even with the premium obtainable, Canadian wheat is priced at a miserably low figure, but the only encouraging feature is that as Canadian hard red spring wheat is popular in international trade to day as it ever was. This fact means a great deal more to Canadian wheat growers than possibly many of them realize.

Above all else it will pay Canadian wheat growers to maintain the quality of their wheat. Next in importance is a close adherence to the grading system which provides rigid and unchangeable standards for Canadian wheat. Degrading will not only result in poorer prices, but in the lost confidence on the part of buyers and the wishes and desires of buyers in any commercial field must be carefully considered in these days of restricted markets.

Alberta Farmers The Richer.

Estimated Share of Wheat Boni
Which Will Go To This Province

Five and one half million dollars in cash, approximately, will go to the farmers of Alberta this year by the creation of the livestock per bushel bonus authorized by the federal government. It was estimated last week.

It was estimated among official circles that Alberta's wheat crop this year would aggregate between 110,000,000 and 112,000,000 bushels.
This was said to be a conservative estimate and means that between $5,500,000 and $5,600,000 will be paid out to Alberta farmers by the government.

The money will go the farmers in cash, money to be spent in Alberta, money that is not gamblable.

The approximate for the province places Alberta production below the harvested crops of previous years, even below the crop in 1926.

Historic Wolfe's Cove Assumes New Aspect

The scene of the landing of General Wolfe, under the towering walls of the Plains of Abraham, in the City of Quebec, is about to become the setting for yet another important event in the history of Canada. On September 14th, the British liner, which embarked at what is now known as Wolfe's Cove, to capture Quebec, on July 31st, 1759, will disembark from the Empress of Britain, on her maiden voyage from Southampton, will land in the harbor in a few years of the same spot and be welcomed, through a tunnel slightly over a mile long, into the historic battle-field on which the English and French fought for the supremacy of North America. The Canadian Pacific's main line to Montreal, the new rail link, which is being completed by the company at a cost of some $2,000,000, will eliminate the present journey through Quebec's terminals and materially shorten the running time from the bow of the ship to the important Canadian market centers. A concrete quay-wall, 4300 feet in length, with 40 feet of water at low tide, will provide berthing space for the new passenger and freighter "White Empress" and five rail-way tracks, converging into one at the end of the wharf and then turning into the new tunnel, will serve to transfer passengers from the bosom of the St. Lawrence to their respective destinations. A two-story shed, with offices, is being built through a two-story shed, with offices, leading down to the trains. The pictures show: (1) Wolfe's army preparing to capture Quebec, from an old drawing; (2) The tunnel mouth near the riverside, now under construction; (3) General Wolfe.

Glimpses Of The Past.

25 YEARS AGO

The Didsbury ball team went to Calgary last Saturday to play the Victories of that city. We do not like to give the score. Badly beaten sums up the whole thing.

A telegram from Edmonton on Thursday announced that Didsbury had been granted incorporation as a town, with the boundaries asked for in the petition. Who will be the first mayor and councillors?

The Didsbury Agricultural Society held their fourth annual fall fair last Wednesday. One indication that shows how much better this fair was over last year's was that against 169 entries made last year, there were over 400 this year.

20 YEARS AGO

H. B. Atkins, returning officer for Red Deer constituency completed the count of votes cast at the election on Monday and complete returns give Dr. Clarke 6,611 and Mr. Mc-Gillivray 3,882.

The Maple Leaf Flour Mills Co announce that they will hold an opening day so that the public can inspect their new premises.

15 YEARS AGO

Town Council Report: Resignation of Solicitor Austin was received in council with regret. The resignation stated that he was leaving Didsbury to join the overseas forces.

A meeting of the representatives from the different districts in the Didsbury constituency to organize and plan for raising $12,000 for the Patriotic Fund was held on Friday afternoon. Lieut. Stauffer, M.P.P. was in the chair.

10 YEARS AGO

Aylmer Liesemer, son of J. E.
Liesemer and one of Didsbury's natives, copped off the University Metropolitana Scholarship in Alberta for 1921.

To be kicked by two cows at once seems adding insult to injury, but this is what happened to Mrs. A.
Revell, who lives a short distance west of town on Monday night.

Weekly Joke.

Cohen and his family sat down to their Sunday dinner. To his three boys Cohen said:

"Which of you want a nickel instead of meat for dinner?"

Each of the three decided in favor of the nickel settlement, so Mrs.
Cohen put the meat away. Then she brought in the pie and put it on the table.

"Now my children," inquired Cohen,
"how many of you want a nickel's worth of pie?"

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

John Tamar, who served as a farm hand on a farm near Debrecen, Hungary, for 101 years, died at the age of 112.

Thomas A. Edison, noted scientist, is on his way to complete recovery from his recent illness. Dr. Hubert S. Howe, his physician has announced.

Estimated cost of providing relief work to Vancouver's unemployed men with dependents, of which the city must bear an undetermined portion, will be about $450,000 a month.

Oscar Turcott, chairman of the commission, "and one result of this is that Canada is always given one of the choice sites at such world fairs—from a knowledge that this Dominion will have its affairs in perfect order at the opening day. Another result is that the fine, large building in Blackburn Road, West Hampstead, N. W. 6, London, England, which houses the organization is much visited nowadays by people interested in the technical organization of exhibitions—by persons anxious to learn the "secret of Canada's success." #### Scot Boy Wore Two Overcoats To Escape Cold

John D. Williamson, 5, walked down the gang plank of the "Caledonia" of the Anchor Line, after journeying home to New York alone from his grandparents' home at Stone Haven, Scotland.

He was garbed in a heavy dark suit, two heavy shirts, a sweater, a light overcoat and a heavy overcoat;

heavy socks and a heavy pair of shoes. His cap was pulled over his ears.

Mrs. George Williamson, of Brook-

most of his garments.

"What on earth are you doing

Langford M. Godfrey Appointed Assistant In Charge Of Illustration Station Work

Langford M. Godfrey, recent graduate of the University of British Columbia, has been appointed assistant in charge of illustration station work at the Windermere Experimental Station. He will have charge of the stations situated in the Okanagan and Shuswap districts since the communist government of the Canadian Government by the Department of Agriculture in Saskatchewan. All efforts will be made to ascertain whether or not the new station will be successful in its new location.

The commission will endeavor to ascertain whether or not by im-

the north Saskatchewan, the south

Shuswap, and the Okanagan Creek,

Current Creek, Waneta Creek, Scouls

River, Moose Jaw Creek, Pilestones

Creek and others, to form a series of lakes of considerable area, if this would be effective in preventing drought conditions.

"At the same time it would be desirable if each farmer in the area could dig out a natural basin on his land to which the surface water drains, and make a dug-out; such dugout not to be too wide, because the farmer could easily irrigate the surface, but to make long and deep and later on trees were planted around the dug-out, the trees would catch and hold the water, and thus the dug-out would furnish a permanent supply of water for the farmer and his stock. This would help the farmer in the dry out-area,

To Combat Drought Causes

Saskatchewan Seeks Means For Assisting Drought Areas

The Saskatchewan Government has appointed a voluntary commission of six, headed by Hon. J. F. Bryant, K.C., Minister of Public Works, to investigate and consider all sources of drought in the southern portion of the province and to suggest plans for combating such causes. The Commission will be assisted by the Department of Conservation and Aforestation, which has already taken steps to assemble all pertinent data from the municipalities situated in the drought area, and by the Department of Agriculture, whose assigned duties are to recommend sites for dams for the conservation of water in the creeks and rivers to the south. The Government proposes to seek Federal aid in the erection of dams at the sites suggested. Personnel of the Commission: Hon. J. F. Bryant, Minister of Public Works; C. Buckle, Minister of Agriculture; D. C. Cowan, M.P. for Long Lake; Dean MacKenzie, University of Saskatchewan; A. G. M. McLean, M.D., and Lieut.-Col. F. O'Lary, M.R.C.M.

A complete review of the line of investigation which the Commission will follow is given in the following statement issued by the Chairman, Hon. Mr. Bryant:

"The commission on conservation and reforestation will get in touch with the municipalities, if any, in the meantime in order to assemble data, as chairman of the commission, an today sending on to the municipalities in the drought areas a questionnaire asking that the council of the municipality co-operate with the commission in supplying the following information as carefully prepared as possible:

1. Name of municipality.
2. Number of families.
3. Number of abandoned farms, if any.
4. Has there been soil drifting in your municipality, and, if so, to what extent?
5. Number of acres of trees in trees in the municipality.
6. Number of farms with shelter belts.
7. Number of farms raising fruit and vegetable products.
8. Number of farms having dugouts on their property and whether or not there is any water in same this year. Have they been dry at any time?
9. Number of wells that have gone dry, if any, in the municipality.
10. Number of acres owned by the municipality as a result of tax forfeitures.
11. Is said land suitable for agricultural purposes. If not, would it be suitable for grazing?
12. The kind of trees most commonly found in the municipality.
13. Are there any lakes, sloughs or large bodies of water in the municipality, and if so, give the approximate acreage of water surface.
14. Please specify any points in your municipality, which are in need of construction, small dams as a relief measure water could be advantageous if conserved.
15. Such measures as you are taking to combat the effects of drought in the case of the most desirable site mentioned.
16. In the interests of a moisture survey of the drier and semi-drier out areas steps are being taken to assemble all the data as to the rainfall in these districts since the coming of the depression.

"The commission will endeavor to ascertain whether or not the construction of dams will be welcomed as a relief measure as a result of the rainfall in the area. The commission will also endeavor to make a study of the water requirements of the area and the amount of water required to produce sufficient wealth from the wooded areas to pay off our provincial debt. A system of artificial irrigation and reforestation policy under a commission appointed for a term of 10 years at a time, and embarking on a definite plan which would take into account the needs of the area and the needs of the people in the area.

"In Saskatchewan we will get around $2,000,000 from our wooded areas under present conditions and in Saskatchewan where the area suitable for tree growing is greater, under their forestry policy the wooded areas produce nearly $10,000,000 per annum. An committee of the people of Saskatchewan, a 10-year plan would be a conservative estimate of the cost of producing sufficient wealth from the wooded areas to pay off our provincial debt. ## The ADVENTURES of CAPTAIN JIMMY and his Dog SCOTIE

WHAT CAME BEFORE: After many adventures, Captain Jimmy agrees to General Lu to Japan. Running out of gasoline, he is forced to hand a signal to the Chinese.

There we were on that lonely little island. The Chinese had General Lu, the Lord Chang, his faithful servant, his maid, Sootie and myself. Rank and file, we were counted for nothing. We were weak and hungry, and the food which we had stored away had not been a square meal.

The sun shone and the wind blew. The island went back four or five miles and ended. Above the sea was a long, low, flat island.

"Look here General!" I said, "you and me are in a bad fix."

"All that we planned and hoped for hours, but never found a rub. In fact, we have not been able to find a place to sleep on the island. The island rose to a tall peak near the sea. It was covered with sand dunes, often buried in drifts of sand. The sand dunes were high, and the sand was more serious than the lack of game."

"Yes, I know you. You have come before—but—but you always go just when I think you're real—just as he has gone. He went down in a dreadful storm—my Nick! There are sharks in those waters, and—other awful things. I've seen him fighting them—struggling—his hair all wet and matted. I—"

For a moment her eyes now, fear for her best beloved. She trembled, and her voice rose higher. Desperate Nick bent to her, speaking with slow distinctness.

"Listen, my precious little wife. I am Nick. I was not drowned. I did not fight those terrible things that haunt you. They are only a dream! But I am not a dream; could a dream hold your hands like this—Gay—and kiss them—like this? Look into my eyes. Can't you believe me, my darling?"

She drew her hands away, putting them to her head as if confused again.

"—I believed before—and you went away."

Nick was breathing hard, as if at the end of a long race. Oh, if he could fight with his bare hands! he thought savagely. But to battle with something intangible—to conquer something unseen. . . . His jaw set grimly. He would conquer it! He would find a way to set Gay's tortured spirit free—to bring back his soul to her eyes. Perhaps he had begun at the beginning of her calm and had taken her back to their first days together—if he recalled to her poor, sick mind the vows he had spoken, wouldn't she understand? Wouldn't she know him?

He said, taking her hands in his: "Gay, you are breaking my heart. You think me a myth—an hallucination—a part of those dreadful nightmares, when all the time I am really Nick, come home after a long journey. But I shall make you believe me. Will you believe I am—if I tell you something that nobody in the whole world knows but just ourselves? I'll tell you where we were married, darling. It wasn't where everyone thinks

PUTNAM'S

W. N. U. 1905

It was, you know, in the office of that Justice of the Peace, with you looking every minute at Abraham Lincoln when you ought to have looked at me! The stars were shining when we were married. Gay, and somewhere not far away a hermit thrush was singing his evening song. We called it our bridal chorus—don't you remember? You were looking straight into my eyes, sweetheart, and I said: "God's a good enough witness for me, Gay; and I promise you now that I'll love you and honor you—and be true to you . . . ."

Slowly, steadily, surely, the shadow was lifting from Gay's eyes. Watching, Nick scarcely breathed. As the distress and fear gave way, her face took on a new and magical beauty. It was like the slow, exquisite opening of a flower. She smiled; stretched out her arms; and cried, her voice echoing out gladly in that silent house:

"Nick! dear Nick, is it really you? Oh, if you love me, stay with me . . . . She was in his arms.

"Never again!" Nick promised as he held her close. "Never, never again . . . ."

In the room below, Julie Nipp was packing in the packing case a candlestick and with a wild sob threw herself on James Maxwell's breast; while, crouched on the stairs, where he had been listening tensely, for those well-come words, an old man raised eyes that were blurred with tears.

"Oh, God—our Heavenly Father, he said brokenly, 'we thank thee . . . ."

The arose, gasping, as if he could not breathe, and stepping into the air, looked up in rapture at the limitless blue above.

CHAPTER XXIX.

There followed days when Nick never left Gay's room save while she slept. If she awakened to find him gone her eyes would widen pitifully with fear that his return was but a dream. After the first, glad outburst of joy, she was alarmingly weak; but as the days passed and her strained nerves relaxed, the serenity that was the keynote of her character came back again.

Nick never forgot those days when he lived in dread of a relapse. But with encouraging steadiness, she returned from that dread "no man's land" where she had wandered; yet, unless he were at her side, it was days before she could remember the fact that her husband was really safe.

"I know I'm foolish," she said apologetically, "but your being here is so wonderful that I want to keep you a prisoner every minute."

"Keep me," Nick answered. "It's a case where the prisoner hugs his foe."

After the first, anxious weeks, those happy days. Sometimes the little boys would stand in quiet, and climbing onto their father's knee, listened to his stories of the strange and beautiful islands he had seen. Of the storm, and the time that followed, Nick never spoke, nor did Gay ask.

Her dreams of the horror had been too vivid. Sometimes, perhaps, he would tell her, but not now. Nothing but joy must touch her for the present.

It was three weeks before Halliday returned, and he came alone. Nick sometimes wondered what passed between him and Angela in the hours following her outburst. She did not appear again before Nick left the bout; and her husband's explanation of a sick-headache was accepted with polite credulity on the part of the Myers. It was only Nick who saw the Colonel's suggestively lifted eyebrows.

As for James Halliday, he seemed almost pathetically glad to work in Borden's shop. Small Martha was soon absent from his side. It was on a Sunday morning that Sonny joined him, when he was instructing the little girl in the art of weeding a flower bed that was "all her own."

The boy watched quietly for a moment, and then announced in a tone of pride:

"My baby sister's got a name. Her name's Nancy, same as Uncle Sim's old woman." What you think of that?"

"That's fine," said Halliday. He took a seat on the edge of Selina Smith's old rocker, and smiled at the little boy in his miniature overalls. "What does Uncle Sim say?" he questioned.

"Here comes Uncle Sim now. He said he was 'babergasted'! I guess he meant surprised. He acted that way. Was you surprised, Uncle Sim?"

"Now what would I be surprised at?" asked Simeon, adjusting his

New Material Found

Canada May Soon Be Able To Manufacture Mineral Wool

The important discovery that certain deposits of rock in the Niagara district of Ontario are suitable for the production of rock wool, a valuable insulating, lining and covering material, features a report issued by the mines branch of the Department of Mines. The report, by M. F. Goudge, deals with the possibility of establishing an industry in Ontario and manufacturing rock wool, which is classed as one of the most effective insulating materials known.

Rock wool, or mineral wool, as it is sometimes called, the report states, is not manufactured in Canada at present as hitherto suitable raw materials were not known to exist within the nation. It is made from stone, magnetite, which possesses certain definite characteristics. Research carried on in the laboratories of the mines branch by Mr. Goudge, indicate that several deposits of impure limestone outcropping at various places between Niagara Falls and Hamilton are suitable for making rock wool.

In the process of manufacture, the natural rock is mixed with coke and charged to a small blast furnace where it is melted. The molten rock issuing in small streams from the base of the furnace is blown into a myriad of small globules by a blast of high-pressure steam. As the molten globules hurtle through the air, each develops a very thin, pliable glassy fibre behind it. This fibre is known as rock wool.

The discovery of the suitability of the Niagara district rock for the manufacture of this commodity suggests the possibility of a new and valuable product being added to the mineral production of Canada, the report states.

A Clever Engineer

Long List Of Achievements Credited To Sir Alexander Gibb

Sir Alexander Gibb, who has come to Canada to prepare a report on the ports and harbours, comes of an ancient Scottish family with engineering in its blood. He himself was a pupil of Brunel and Barry, and the list of his achievements and decorations fills a whole column of "Who's Who."

They include such widely different undertakings as the dockyard at Rosyth and the wonderful aquarium at the Zoo. During the war Sir Alexander played a chief part in developing the Channel ports for the disbanding of the Channel ports for the naval base at Singapore. He is a keen student of Burns, a member of the ancient King's Bodyguard for Scotland, and belongs to no fewer clubs.

Nearly all children are subject to worms and many are born with them. Spare them suffering by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, an excellent remedy.

Changed Its Nature

X-Ray Experiment Converts Annual Plant Into Perennial

In experiments to learn more about effects of X-rays on plant evolution, an annual plant has been changed into a perennial at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.

The plant which changed its nature at Cornell is the eucalyptus, the closest wild relative to corn. There are two species, Mexican, the annual, and perennial, the perennial.

Some of the seed was exposed to X-rays for a few minutes and then germinated. The young stalk began life as an annual, but later on, while still young, it developed some of the appearances of a perennial. Then the annual portion dried up and disappeared, and the remaining stalk developed into a true perennial.

WHEN GASTRIC JUICES FAIL TO FLOW

You know how badly an engine runs when it gets clogged up. It's the same with your body when your gastric or digestive juices fail to flow. You know the value of being assimilated by your system, simply collects and stagnates inside you, producing harmful acid poisons. What you need is a purifying tonic—Nature's six mineral salts.

You get all these six salts in Keweenaw salts, and eat one of them every morning on the stomach. They stimulate and tone up the bodily functions from a number of different angles. The first effect of these salts is to stimulate the flow of the bile and so awaken the appetite. The next action occurs in the stomach, where the digestive juices are enabled to digest up the food. Again in the intestinal region certain of these salts promote a further flow of bile which carries with it partly digested food and prepares it fully for absorption into the body.

So you see there is no mystery about Keweenaw salts. They work on purely scientific and well-known principles. Prove it for yourself.

Little Helps For This Week

"Except ye become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven." —Matthew xvii, 3.

Except your Father lead you. You cannot find the way Among the snares and pitfalls. The lures that lead astray; Except your Father lead you. And hold the sweets of love, You'll miss the narrow pathway That leads from earth above.

—Mary Frances Butts.

Blessed are ye if ye become as a little child, for a child is the visible likeness of the Lord Himself. And there is a blessedness in knowing this truth. —He who sees the essential in the child—the pure childhood—sees the essence of grace and truth; in a word, real childhood. —George MacDonald.

Market For Alberta Coal

Orders For 55,000 Tons Received From Winnipeg Firms

Investigation of the quality of various Alberta coals with a view to determining the fuel best suited to the requirements of the Winnipeg City Hydro-Electric is being undertaken by G. W. Oliver, fuel engineer for the City of Winnipeg. It is pointed out that Winnipeg will be in the market during the coming winter for about 40,000 tons of coal for its central heating system and its contract will be let to one of the various Canadian companies. Orders for 55,000 tons of Alberta coal have been placed recently by large Winnipeg concerns.

New Finance Chief To Be Named Shortly

The engrossing character of the financial administration these days is considered likely to expedite the selection of a new minister of finance. While he has plenty of other occupations to keep him busy, Prime Minister Bennett is forced to spend most of his time in the financial department where problems are not wholly federal; some are provincial. The obligation is realized to be too exacting for one man.

No definite decision has been reached, but latest reports are that an outsider may be selected in place of one of the present ministers.

The train ride from Vancouver to Banff is the most wonderful I have ever taken" was the comment of the much-travelled and famous writer J. B. Priestley, of "Angel Pavement" and "The Good Companions." He had just arrived recently at the Banff Springs Hotel. "These parts are too wonderful to describe," he said, and added he was coming again in September for the trail riding.
